

Queen Mary, University of London

MSc Mental Health and Law

Commencing 2013*

The School of Medicine and Dentistry
and the Department of Law

www.qmul.ac.uk/mentalhealth

This MSc is ideal for world leaders in law and clinical practice who wish to create significant interdisciplinary and organisational advances in care services and legal practice; professionals who are involved in protecting the rights and dignity of the public and ensuring that the highest standards of competencies are available to individuals in contact with criminal justice and mental health legislation.

This MSc will provide students with up to date and practical knowledge of critical issues at the interface of mental health and law. Topics include:

- Psychological processes in gathering and giving evidence
- Preparing evidence for court hearings
- Using The Mental Health Act and Mental Capacity Act
- Advanced mental health assessment
- International human rights law and mental health
- Mental health and the law in transcultural perspective
- Conducting research in legal and clinical practice

*Commencing September 2013 subject to College Approval

Barts and The London
School of Medicine and Dentistry

Queen Mary
University of London

Queen Mary, University of London

MSc Mental Health and Law

Commencing 2013*

The School of Medicine and Dentistry
and the Department of Law

www.qmul.ac.uk/mentalhealth

Why study for an MSc in Mental Health and Law at Queen Mary?

- Led by Experts

This MSc is jointly led by Professor Kamaldeep Bhui, from The School of Medicine and Dentistry, and Professor Richard Ashcroft, from The Department of Law. Lectures will be delivered by renowned clinicians, lawyers and academics.

- Interdisciplinary Learning

This MSc combines interdisciplinary knowledge and practice from mental health and law.

- Latest facilities

Learning is supported through a virtual learning environment which includes course materials, including audio and video content. Furthermore, the MSc in Mental Health and Law can be studied by distance learning provided that internet access is available.

- Member of Russell Group

In recognition of our excellence in research and teaching, Queen Mary joined the Russell Group of leading UK universities in 2012. The Russell Group attracts the brightest students from the UK and internationally.

- Leading Research University

In the most recent Research Assessment Exercise 2008, Barts and The London School of Medicine and Dentistry was ranked in the top 5 of medical and dental schools in England for quality of research and The School of Law was placed amongst the top eight law schools in the UK.

- Location

Teaching will take place at the historic Charterhouse Square Campus of Queen Mary, University of London. Situated at the heart of London and moments from The Inns of Court.

Register Interest If you would like more information about this new MSc, please register your interest at: www.qmul.ac.uk/mentalhealth/

Barts and The London
School of Medicine and Dentistry

Queen Mary
University of London